THURSDAY MORNING, OCT. 4, 1855

There was a report in circulation yesterday that there was a case of yellow fever on the Point; we addressed a note to Dr. Henry E. Turner, the attending Physician, and recieved from him a reply. --- as (ollows :---

Wednesday Morning. DR. H. E. TURBER,

Dear Sir :-It is reported on the street that there is a case of yellow fever on the Point, a young man by the name of Wood; and I hear that you are his physician. Will you please give me the lacts in the case, where he came from. the nature of his disease, &c., that I may publish them and relieve any anxiety that may exist in the community.

Yours in haste, W. H. CRANSTON.

Wednesday Morning, Oct. 3d. W. H. CRANSTON, Esq. DEAR SIR :--

In reply to your note of this date I have to say that Nuthan Wood arrived home on the 1st inst. from Boston via Providence, having arrived at Boston in 18 days from Hampton Roads; he had been ill for about ten days; his disease is Billious Remittent Fever, such as 1 am accustomed to see in instances where persons arrive from Southern ports at thi, season of the year. I was particular in my enquiries, and he says that he did not land and that the vessel was loaded from scows, on the West Branch, I think, some distance above the city. In my opinion no apprebenelon need he entertained in relation to this case.

Yours Respectfully, HENRY E. TURNER.

Judge Roosevelt, at the opening of the Court, at 11 o'cleck-a very full and most intelligent panel of Grand Jurors panetoally presenting themselves let'vered his charge to the Inquest,-Charles A. Davis, Esq., being the Foreman.

Judge Roosevelt remarked-The oath you have taken for all ordinary purposes sufficiently defines your powers and duties. It is also well colouisted to impress upon your minds, the high sesponsibility -important though it be-conferred upon you The Legislature, however, has made it incumbent upon the Bench to specalily charge you as to other matters.

By the 23d section of the act for the suppression of Pauperism, Intemperance and Crime, it is made the duty of every Judge in charging the Grand Jury to charge them as to the provisions of that law. I need not inform you that this law is daily and hourly violated. The causes which have produced this state of things are proper subjects for consideration. Are they to be found in the delective provisions of the law, -- in the defective administration of its provisions, or in the defective powers of the Legislature to make such a law? Of what avail would be the damning up of the comparatively harmless rivulets of cider and lager beer, were the flery torrents of brandy and gin allowed to pursue their augmented way? Assuming the legislative power to be as the framers of the law to be sufficiently clear and expressed with legal precision a much graver question has

The Constitution of the United States fand it is to that I shall confine myself, and the treatise and acts of Congress are within their sphere, the supreme law of the land. And to prevent all possible evasions (hears in mind this) of this fundamental principle of the Union, it is expressly declared that every Judge, under his oath shall be bound thereby-State laws to the contrary, notwithstanding. Among the acts which Congress by terms (and not by inference) of Constitution is authorized to pass and have passed and are therefore the supreme law, (Sinte laws to the contrary,) is a law lying duties specifically, by name on foreign liquors, and these duties are so laid and are to be collected as to pay the dahts and entire to the benefit of the country.

Can a State Legislature without consent of Congress, say that one branch of revenue shall be cut off, or, suppose Congress has seen fit to rest the whole support of its revenues on wines and brandles, would it in such a case have been competent for each State to say " no wines or brandles no sale-if no sale, there would be no inducement -and no revenue-and without revenue no government.

The distinction has been drawn. I ammere, between broken and original packme The object of all statutes is total alistinence. It may be wise to look at the question. Can the object he considered attained without the concurrence of the Federal Government,

The Supremy Court at Washington have alre dy decides that a law of Maryland taxing an importer of Honors is void. But they have nor decided that the act would have been valid if the packages had been broken-whatever may have been the casnal expressions on that point of a ringle Judge,-a State being prohibited from inhibiting revenue, the sale is secured from State legislation. Consequences would be the destruction of the powers of the Genernl Government. No State, it is admitted can (Congress not agreeing) lay any duty on imports. But what the value of this prohibition, if State laws, say packages shall not be broken up? On a proper application from any individual State, Congress might give its consent to any State law passing a law taxing or prohitting revenue privileges.

It was not my purpose to address you at length on this act, but these questions though passed upon by one branch of the Supreme Court, are now pending in the Court of Appeals, and we shall soon have a indonesia I that Court on these constitutional questions. Their decisions will be subject, on this head, to an appeal (final in its nature,) to the Supreme Court at Wa-ington. The District Attorney can my the statute before you, and you may take any action you please, but the legislature made it my duty to say something "to charge you, etc.," rapenting the words of thestatute,-[N. LATER FROM SALT LAKE.-The mail from Salt Lake arrived at Westport on Friday, bringing one month's later intelligence. The train met General Hurney 29 miles this side of Fort Laramie, and the health of the troops was good. Lieut Heath was killed at the battle of Ash Hollow. The Indians fell in with a party of emigrams, between Ash Hollow and Fort Laramie, and, after shaking hands with them in a friendly manner, bagan shooting at them, wounding badly one of their number.

"Who's Your HU-BAND?"-We have to day learned the particulars of a most singular circumstance. Some four years lesson-Content. since a citizen of Boston emigrated to Colifornia, leaving his wife behind him. At the expiration of one year he left San Francisco for the mines, and lowing to the careless postal arrangements, his wife received no letter from him for the following year. This seemed to confirm information received by her from what she considered an authentic source, that her husband was dead, and accordingly the wife, against whom there had never been the shadow of a reproach, yielded to the entreaties of and married another suitor. The husband, it will be remimbered, had been absent two years at the time of the marriage. The second husband lived only a few months after the nuntials, and the widow, for a (as she thought horsell,) was slightly aurprised, a lew days since, by the appearance of her first husband. Matters have of course been satisfactorily explained, and the husband and wife are now living happily together. The affair has, however. excited inuch comment and seardal among their immediate acquaintance, and an inturested party is about, so says rumor, to enter a complaint of biganiv against the should be a assumed?" A Noble Trinute.—Frances Browne, an unfriended poetess in England, recently contributed to the Athenseum a poem of much merk, called "Is it come?" The poem attracted the notice of Lansdowne, who, hearing that the author was poor, immediately som her five hundred dollars, 1 was a n ble tribute to struggling genius and deserves to be recorded.

-On Tuesday morning two rich young sprigs of Cincinnati lought a duel, about a young lady, of course. They fired three times without effect, when one of the senonds stepped forward and declared that he himself was engaged to be married to the young lady about whom the principles were fighting. The parties immediately shook hands and went home satisfied that they had made judies of themselves.

BITE OF A RATTLESNAKE, - Dr. Thomas of Monticello, (Ind.) reports a case of rattlesnake bite. Mr. J. H. S., aged 38, who stands six feet in his stockings who, by the way, was very fond of brandy-had just been bitten on the inside of his left heel by a large ratilesnake, both fangs having been w. Il inserted in the muscles. In thirty six hours he was sound and well. I gave him, in the short time alluded to, one quart of brandy and one and a half gallon of whis key, all without intoxication. He wanted more, and I refused to supply his wants. The next day Mr. H., his next neighbor, was passing along and saw him with his pants rolled up to his knees, bare footed, and wading around in some weeds and grass with his teet. H. asked if he had lost anything? "No, Sir." "What are you doing, then?" "I'm hunting a snake.
